

2008 Stafford “Unsung Hero”

Inspector Don Hull of the Oklahoma City Police Department was chosen as the 2008 Tim Stafford “Unsung Hero” recipient. Don has been a volunteer with the Law Enforcement Torch Run for the past 16 years and Special Olympics Oklahoma for the past 20 years. As the Director of Softball Operations for the entire state, coaches and athletes alike continually comment about his organizational and leadership skills. During his Torch Run work with Oklahoma City Police Department, Don has chaired numerous fundraising events that have raised thousands of dollars for Special Olympics. He serves on the Executive Committee for Oklahoma LETR and has represented Oklahoma as one of the Final Leg runners from Athens, Greece to Dublin, Ireland. In 2005, he was the recipient of the John Carion Unsung Hero International Award. An instrumental part of the 2007 International LETR Conference Planning Committee, he went above and beyond by coining the visionary theme “Catch Your Dreams” and helping design the conference logo. A true perfectionist to say the least. Don has proven to be a valuable asset to Oklahoma LETR, Special Olympics and LETR International. He is a stabilizing force that bridges any and all gaps. His affection for the athletes of Special Olympics and their families is commendable.
