Jennifer Fisher is a trooper with the Oklahoma Highway Patrol and has been an active member of the LETR since 2000. Jennifer was involved in the very first polar plunge in 2001 at Joe's Crab Shack and has remained involved with the plunges since including being the 2013 Super Plunge Co-Chair. She has for the last 12 years has raised money in the Craig Myers walk for Special Olympics, The Polar Plunge, Cops on a Donut Shop with Krispy Kreme Donuts and all tip a cop events at Texas road house, Red Robin, Joe's Crab Shack and Johnny Carino's. She continues to work with Red Lobster restaurant to continue the cops and lobsters drive every year. This event is an OHP exclusive event. She led and set up a tip a cop event with Chick Fil A that has raised several thousand dollars. Jennifer has also led and organizes Hamburger Helpers Picnics for the past 5 years. She has participated in roof top sits at various locations. Jennifer chaired the first truck convoy for Special Olympics in Oklahoma. It was a great success.

Jennifer assisted in obtaining materials and set-up and presentation at the 2006 International Conference to kick-off Oklahoma's conference in 2007. Jennifer served on several committees' for the 2007 International conference hosted in Oklahoma City.

Jennifer helped obtain sponsorship's, organized transportation from hotel to hotel as well as worked and was present through-out the conference to assist in any area needed. Jennifer was a very strong force behind the scenes that help make the Oklahoma Conference the best conference there was.

During the Special Olympics winter and summer games Jennifer is a constant figure and is always there to help the games committee as well as any athlete, no matter what the issue. She also participates in both summer and winter games as part of the LETR torch lighting ceremonies.

Jennifer has a child that has special needs, but her involvement goes way beyond the needs of her own child. She is a constant in any Special Olympic event in the state of Oklahoma. She has become a well known figure at summer and winter games with the athletes, parents. Jennifer is there for them no matter what their request may be, be it take a picture with her or letting them look at her patrol car, giving direction or locating a lost child, she will happily allow or oblige them. Her dedication is limitless. Her devotion to the Law Enforcement Torch Run and Special Olympics is truly rare and not something one may witness on a regular basis. This individual is the type of person that personifies what Tim Stafford was about.
