Jim Fisher, this year's recipient of the Tim Stafford Unsung hero award has been involved in Special Olympics and Law Enforcement Torch Run since 2000. He has been involved since the very first polar plunge in 2001 at Joe's Crab Shack and has remained involved with the plunges even becoming a co-chair of one of them. He has for the last 12 years raised money in the Craig Myers walk for Special Olympics, The Polar Plunge, Cops on a Donut Shop with Krispy Kreme Donuts and all tip a cop events at Texas road house, Red Robin, Joe's Crab Shack and Johnny Carino's. He works to continue the cops and lobsters drive every year. This event is an OHP exclusive event. He has also led with obtaining the most LETR sponsorships in the state. He has participated in roof top sits at various locations. He also chaired his first golf tournament this past year. He was the leader and co-chair for the Super Plunge.

He assisted in obtaining materials and set-up and presentation at the 2006 International Conference to kick-off Oklahoma's conference in 2007. He served on several committees' for the 2007 International conference hosted in Oklahoma City. Jim also helped obtain sponsorship's for the conference. He was a very strong force behind the scenes that help make the Oklahoma Conference the best conference there was. He participates in both summer and winter games as part of the LETR torch lighting ceremonies. His human kindness, unselfishness and unconditional love for the Special Olympic Athlete is second to none. He is compassionate, big-hearted, and devoted. His devotion to the Law Enforcement Torch Run and Special Olympics is truly rare and not something one may witness on a regular basis.—This individual is the type of person that personifies what Tim Stafford was about.
